GETTYSBURG DIRECTORS RESENT SABBATH BALL

Lodge Protest With President Jamison And Will Continue Their Effort To Have League Ban It

Gettysburg's protest against the playing of Sunday baseball in the Blue Ridge league was voiced to President Jamison on Monday. What the outcome of the resentment of the local directors against Sabbath baseball will be, is only a matter of conjecture, but the magnates are determined to put themselves on record emphatically and with the declaration of a definite alternative, in the matter.

From the start of the Blue Ridge league, Gettysburg has objected to playing Sunday baseball. The game would never be played here, to be sure, but as there was always the prospect Cumberland, Piedmont, or some other town where the game was tolerated on Sunday, would join the circuit, the Gettysburg directors let it be known freely they would never sanction Sunday baseball.

When the old circuit was intact Hanover and Chambersburg stood by Gettysburg on that score. Now Chambersburg has slid from the league and Hanover, since it voted to ratify the transfer of the Chambersburg franchise and followed this up by playing a game there last Sunday, has also joined the ranks opposite Gettysburg. This leaves the local magnates alone in their fight.

Disregarding the financial gain of games played in Cumberland on Sunday, the local directors point to the fact that the people of Gettysburg would never countenance playing ball on Sunday here, and entirely consistent with the taboo on Sunday hall in Gettysburg, object to it in the Blue Ridge league, of which the team is a member.

The Gettysburg directors will not change their attitude on the Sunday baseball proposition and the league officials will hear emphatically that they register objection. The matter will likely come before a meeting of the league officials at an early date.

OBITUARY

GEORGE F. SWARTZ
George F. Swartz died at his home in Hanover Monday night after a lingering illness caused by a complication of diseases. He was aged 66 years, 6 months and 15 days.

The deceased was born at the Swartz homestead in Conewago township, and was a son of the late Solomon and Margaret (Basehoar) Swartz. He was one of the first rural mail carriers to be appointed from the Hanover post office and served on route number four for a period of twelve and one half years, resigning that position just eighteen months ago.

Forty-six years ago he was married to Miss Emma J. Gitt, daughter of the late Jeremiah and Melvin Gitt, of Union township, who survives. Two daughters, Mrs. Charles Richter, of near Bittinger's, and Miss Margaret Swartz, at home and three sons, Ruel L. Swartz and G. Roy Swartz, Hanover, and J. Milton Swartz, at home, also survive. Five brothers: Jacob S. and Emory A., Hanover; Charles and Morris, Taneytown, and Riley, Gettysburg, and two sisters, Mrs. Della Myers, New Oxford, and Mrs. Louise Grove, Hanover, also survive.

MRS. BRINGMAN'S FUNERAL

The funeral of Mrs. William H. Bringman, who died at the West Side Sanitarium, York, on Monday, will be held from her late home on Stevens street, Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, conducted by her pastor, the Rev. Paul Reid Pontius. Interment at New Chester. Friends and relatives are asked to attend without further notice.

Easy Peasy.
"Ethelinda says she's going away to be a trained nurse."
"She has been contemplating that for a long time," commented Ethelinda's father.
"One of these days she'll be!"
"If she does people will be hurting her feelings just the same and she'll be threatening to return home!"—Washington Star.

MENTAL ENERGY

It pays to think. It is like putting money out at interest. Dollars make dollars, and thoughts make other thoughts. We are so accustomed to having this old world reward us for things we do in dollars that we forget there is such a reward as brains—mental growth. Happy the one who sees all these things in their proper light, who recognizes in every failure a lesson learned, in every effort a reward.

PONIES GOT AN EARLY LEAD THEN RAIN CAME

The Ponies had a good start on Hagerstown yesterday when rain broke up the proceedings. With the score 2-0 in the first inning, a heavy downpour drove the players to the dugouts and led to final adjournment for the afternoon with no more of the game played.

The game lasted just long enough for "Jimmy" Dykes to get in a smashing home run drive, one of the hardest hit of the year at the Hagerstown park. Yim had doubled and was sacrificed to second by Jones, when Dykes, with a count of two and two on him, caught a curve ball squarely on the nose and lined it over the left field fence.

Dysert opened Hagerstown's half with a single, about the first hit he has ever made off Baker, the Pony pitcher being especially effective against the Terrier slugger. Lee Meyer was at bat when the rain started.

A fine of $10 was collected from the Pony players for raiding the cherry tree at Halfway, Md., some weeks ago. The collection of the fine came as a suitable climax to a week or more of eventful happenings in that end of the circuit. The sensational slugging matches in the Martinsburg park, the riot in which Dunn was fined, and suspended and two other players received discolored eyes, and the flogging of the Ponies for their cherry picking ability, stamp them a versatile lot of ball players.

Woman's National Army for Food Conservation
HAVE YOU ENLISTED?

Recruiting of the Woman's National Army for Food Conservation—mobilization of housekeepers under Food Administrator Hoover, by which women are to do their "bit" in winning the war—is being stimulated by the striking poster which is here reproduced.

Thousands of these posters have been distributed by the Food Supply Department of the Committee of Public Safety. Hundreds of thousands of "enlistment" cards have also been distributed.

They put this question up to every housekeeper: Will the women of Pennsylvania display patriotism equal to that shown by the men of Pennsylvania in registering for war-time service?

If you have not received an "enlistment" card you may enroll by signing the attached form and forwarding it to the local Committee of Public Safety or to the Food Supply Department, 1426 South Penn Square, Philadelphia.

"Enlist" today and you will be helping to win the war.

Doria, the Sea Rover.
Doria palace, in Genoa, where Verdi lived at one time, is little associated in these days with the sea rover who gave the palace his name. Andrea Doria, supposed to have been a native of Genoa, fought against his country in the service of Francis I. of France. Subsequently he deserted the French and went over to the Spanish-Austrian party, thereby checking the progress of French arms in Italy. He drove the French out of Genoa in 1528 and was made doge or chief magistrate.

Stage Steeds.
The steed is always a difficulty in staging "Don Quixote." At the Theatre de la Galette, in Paris, the Rosinante in Massenet's opera grew so fat under the light work and good food that it was found necessary to "paint protruding ribs on his painfully round sides every night."

Irring's difficulty in London was in the other direction. He had engaged a peculiarly decrepit animal, the property of a baker, for the part, but on the morning of the rehearsal he found that it had been taken by an officer of the S. F. C. A. to Bow street, where the magistrate ordered it to be killed.—London Mail.

Twice Laid.
The restaurant customer had waited a long time for his order. Finally the waiter got within hearing distance, and the customer yelled:
"Hey, boy, what's the matter with them eggs I ordered?"
"Beg pardon, sir," answered the waiter; "they musta been mislaid."—Detroit Saturday Night.
