

MOUNTAINEERS WOULD CONTEST

Say Hagerstown Broke Rules and is not Entitled to League Pennant.

THREE GAMES ON MONDAY

Fatigue Effort to Overcome Terriers' Substantial Lead. Gettysburg Dropped Final Pair.

Martinsburg and Hanover split even in the last two games Monday, and as Hagerstown won, the latter, on the face of games won and lost, carries off the championship of the Blue Ridge League.

However, a protest has been filed with President Jamison by the Martinsburg management against Hagerstown over alleged violations of certain rules of organized ball, and an investigation will be demanded before the pennant is formally awarded to Hagerstown.

The charges against Hagerstown will be laid before the National Commission in a few days and may result in the throwing out of certain games won by Hagerstown. If the charges are sustained the pennant would be awarded to Martinsburg.

Ginger was well known in England even before the Norman conquest, being often referred to in the Anglo-Saxon manuscripts of the eleventh century. It was very common in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries, ranking next in value to pepper.

The Cuckoo Bee. The cuckoo bee is so called because, like the cuckoo, it lays its eggs in the cells or nests of other bees.

Cumberland closed the 1917 season of the Blue Ridge League by winning both ends of a double bill from Frederick Monday. The first game was won by a score of 10 to 5 and the second, 4 to 0.

OUR COMMITTEE HAS BEST RECORD

State Body Sets Pace for Balance of the United States.

CARLISLE MAN MANAGER MAKING THEIR REPORTS

Lewis S. Sadler, of that Town, Directing Work. Much has been Accomplished in Five Months.

"A concentration of effort not paralleled at any other time in Pennsylvania's history and probably unexcelled by any other state in mobilization of potential resources" is the record of the five months' existence of the Committee of Public Safety of the Commonwealth, according to the report of its activities just issued.

Appointed by the Governor five months ago, it was organized, "in recognition of the obvious necessity for nationwide co-ordination of state energies and resources to permit of the most vigorous prosecution" of war by the Federal government.

The plan of the committee, which is made up of more than 300 civilians, is a concentration of all activities into five divisions, comprising seventeen separate working departments, all under compact central executive control and financed by a legislative appropriation of $2,000,000.

In the brief period of its existence, the committee has completed its organization throughout sixty-seven counties of the state. In each county, unit the state organization is duplicated as nearly as possible in structure so that complete co-ordination of effort is possible and has been attained in every line of activity so far undertaken.

Activities of official State Departments essential to the efficiency of the committee program have also been placed at its command, so that it is the one organization having equipment and capacity for carrying out its great and vital work.

Of course, the great work of the committee is in the future, when more active participation of the government in the great war brings all the activities planned into play.

The military and naval situation and the acute food condition up to the present have been of dominating importance so far throughout the State and nation, and this has brought into play the committees dealing with these problems. All the departments have been earnestly working, nevertheless.

The officers of the Committee of Public Safety are: George Wharton Pepper, chairman; B. F. Jones, Jr., vice chairman; Lewis E. Beiler, secretary; Ellingham B. Morris, treasurer; Lewis S. Sadler, executive manager.

YORK COUNTY GERARD MAY SPEAK IN YORK

The entertainment committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at York, is making an effort to obtain James C. Gerard, former United States ambassador to Germany, as the principal speaker at the annual banquet to be held next February. The selection of delegates to the war convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce, at Atlantic City, September 18-21, will occupy the attention of the board of directors at their first meeting of the season this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Vance C. McCormick, of Harrisburg, will be the speaker at the annual meeting of the chamber November 20, next. The terms of the following five directors will expire on that date: A. B. Farquhar, S. F. Gregory, J. Calvin Strayer, Henry Wasbers and Allen C. Wiest. The fiscal year ends October 1, when auditors will be appointed to examine the organization's books. A prominent Philadelphia banker will speak on the second Liberty loan at the October noonday luncheon of the body. At the October meeting the board will nominate 10 men for directors, each individual member being privileged to name another man.

The proposed tax law will be explained at the December meeting. It is probable that the public safety committee, the York County chapter, American Red Cross, and the commerce chamber, will promote the new Liberty loan.

DEFENDANTS IN SUITS

Amos E. Rieker and Robert J. Lewis Saturday became the defendants in two summons in assumpsit filed in the office of Prothonotary Thomas J. Young, involving a total sum of $10,500. The City bank is the plaintiff. One action is against both Rieker and Lewis. The plaintiff's statement is to the effect that the defendants on April 3, 1917, for value received, gave a promissory note for $1,000 payable 120 days after date. The plaintiff alleges that on August 1, the date the note became due, it was presented and payment was refused.

CAPABLE CHIEF

Paris, Aug. 10.—(By Mail)—When a wild and wooly person tries to "clean out" an establishment of the American Army & Navy Y. M. C. A., working in France to-day, he finds trouble. Here's a little example: At a certain port the other day a sailor, who was old enough to know better, thought he would throw a little terror into a local Y. M. C. A. canteen. He started but that's as far as he got. The Secretary of this canteen happened to be O. F. Gardner, a fine type of American citizen who used to operate a ranch "Somewhere in Colorado." Before Gardner bought his ranch he was one of Princeton's best athletes. Our sailor friend who was full of Irish spirit and perhaps a little too much of something else, soon found himself under the cooling splash of a convenient water faucet. Here he stayed until his hasty resolution was sufficiently cooled. Above and on both sides of him was one O. F. Gardner.

Two evenings later an entertainment organized by Gardner, for the benefit of the soldiers and sailors was interrupted. "Just a minute Chief," a voice exclaimed. "I'm back again and I'm all for you." It was the fighting Irish sailor who contributed to the evening by some solos in a remarkable voice. Just now he's helping Gardner organize some boxing bouts.

GET DRUNK—TOURISTS

Despite the increase in traffic on Saturday and Sunday there were fewer arrests in Chambersburg than on the previous week-ends. On Saturday afternoon shortly after four o'clock a party of five was picked up on the bridge in Lincoln Way West on a charge of drunkenness. Three men were in the car at the time and the two others had gone to a hotel to get another supply of liquor. The men in the automobile were badly intoxicated and when taken to police headquarters had to be carried into the cage, where they remained until Sunday morning. The five were arraigned before Magistrate Haulman and fined $3.50 and costs. The party came from Bedford and was on its way to Gettysburg when the journey was interrupted. After the hearing the men left for their homes.

able commendation. The exhibit opened Thursday afternoon, and closed Saturday evening. The show window and room has been most artistically arranged with evergreen trees and flowering vines. Butterflies and birds are perched among the branches of the trees making a regular woodland scene. There is as fine a display of butterflies and moths to be found in the valley, and a most interesting exhibit of wild flowers, birds' nests and eggs. The butterfly and moth are shown in all their different stages, from the tiny eggs and the worm to the spun and vari-colored butterfly.

The wild flowers are all mounted on cards containing a full description of every specie. The various kinds of trees and shrubbery are also to be seen, and the members of the club are in attendance to give an explanation of all the exhibits. It is a wonderful exhibit and one that any town could feel proud of, and Greencastle is to be congratulated that she has so many young men who are well versed on nature and so willing to pass their knowledge and their research on to others.

MAIL CARRIER TO TEACH

J. J. Kriner, of Chambersburg, has resigned as a rural mail carrier. His resignation took effect on Friday, August 31. Sub-carrier Edward S. Strickler, of Stoufferstown, is serving the patrons of Mr. Kriner's route until his successor is chosen. Mr. Kriner resumed teaching school, a profession he followed prior to entering the mail delivery business. He has accepted a position as a teacher in the Falling Spring school in Guilford township, a vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Elsie McFerren, whose father died a few days ago. Mr. Kriner has been in the rural mail service for twelve years and one day. Mr. Kriner proved a most efficient carrier of Chambersburg Route No. 5, and was popular with the patrons.

WAREHOUSE COMPLETED

So quietly that but few people were aware of it the Gulf Refining company has completed a large warehouse with stables and sheds for trucks and wagons and three 16,000 gallon oil tanks in Chambersburg. Into the latter the oil will run by gravity from tank cars on a siding of the Western Maryland Railroad.

The plant which is all painted a bright yellow, is located on Hollywell avenue, just below South street, and the company will handle all kinds of fuel and lubricating oils and gasoline. It covers about an acre of land that formerly belonged to W. H. Shank and probably cost more than $20,000 to construct.

John Diffenderfer formerly of St. Thomas and of a well known Franklin county family has moved to Chambersburg with his wife, from Philadelphia, to accept a position in the warehouse which will be managed by a Mr. Farrell, who moved there with his family Saturday. The establishment is well equipped with horses, wagons and trucks to carry on a large business. The oil comes from the Texas refineries.

DRIVES AUTO OVER BANK

Losing control of his car while passing another machine at a rate of speed said to have been 40 miles an hour, William Gentzler, of Nashville, Saturday night about 11 o'clock drove down over a two-foot embankment to the summer road on the Gettysburg pike, near the catch toll gate, badly damaging his automobile. In the car with Mr. Gentzler was his wife and the three Lau sisters, of Porters. None of the occupants were injured. Mr. Gentzler, it is said, attempted to pass a touring car in which were Ernest Strausbaugh and Henry Freed, of Spring Grove. When the Gentzler automobile hit a grass patch on the side of the pike the machine swerved and went down over the bank, colliding with the embankment on the other side of the road. Every spoke was torn from one of the front wheels of the automobile, which also suffered damage to its front axle and fender. The machine was towed to a garage at Spring Grove.
