Martinsburg again rallied from behind to take the second game of the doubleheader at Nixon Field, defeating Gettysburg, 8 to 3 on Thursday evening. Frank Colley withstood a rough first inning to hold the Ponies to just three hits on three runs to earn the complete game victory for the Mountaineers. Joe Baker started for the Ponies, but was roughed up, and didn't last past the third inning, before being relieved by Johnny Mumford.

The Ponies scored two runs in the first inning when "Pete" Bigler reached on a free pass from Colley. Gus Boyne sacrificed Bigler to second, and he took third on Herman's infield out. A throwing error by John Bates on Ira Plank's grounder allowed Bigler to score, and the runner to take second. Art Koehler's double to deep center resulted in Plank scoring to give Gettysburg a 2 to 0 lead.

Martinsburg came back to tie the score in the second on a double by Bates, a double by "Country" Morris, and another double by Lu Blue. The Mountaineers added three more tallies in the third, Short Long singled, and Katsey Dean reached on Koehler's throwing error, when the Ponies catcher tried to force out Long at second. Lee Percy laid down a suicide squeeze bunt to bring home Long, and Reggie Rawlings brought home Dean on a sacrifice fly. Percy, who was safe on the fielder's choice that scored Dean, came home on an error by outfielder Kelly.

The Mountaineers added three insurance runs in the seventh on singles by Dean, Rawlings and Bates, and a bases loaded double by Morris, to give Martinsburg eight runs in the game.

Gettysburg scored another run in the fifth on John Mumford's base hit, a walk to Bigler, and a throwing error by Bates.
